I started my carrier as a freelance graphic designer and gradually I found myself more fascinated by and attracted to book illustrations and motion graphic designing. While working on various books, magazines, motion graphics, and video productions, I got the required space for creative nurturing in my art practice. My active association with theatre and filmmaking from an early age helps me to render specific visual qualities and incorporate different storytelling techniques in my works. Also, from the urge towards expressing my complex feeling, understanding, and reaction, I do experiments with audio-visuels, which may have no specific story or plot, but can be considered as a form of expression.

I like to share my knowledge and understanding of these mediums through conducting workshops and sessions on stop-motion animation, illustration, crafts making, shadow puppetry, etc.
